Athletics

Ilford Athletics Club are mourning the death of one of their leading lights, Peter Ryan, who died peacefully in his sleep aged 66 last week.

Ryan battled pancreatic cancer in his final years and was a lifelong Sheffield Wednesday supporter who enjoyed watching football - viewing Thursday's match on television before going to bed for what would be the final time.

A retired police constable, Ryan was a proud Yorkshireman who moved south in the 1970s and stayed in the area.

He was a tall man with a long stride and a formidable athlete in both running and race walking events, at a variety of distances, and one who also represented the British Police in representative matches.

His best moment came at Newmarket in 2003 when he won the British 100 Miles' Walking Championship in a time of 19 hours, 57 minutes and 35 seconds.
